PARENTS OF OXNARD AREA TEENS ATTEND UCSB CONFERENCE

Graduates of the Parent Institute for Quality Education Program will be at the University of California, Santa Barbara for a conference on Saturday, Sept. 25, from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in 1910 Buchanan Hall to find out more about the campus.

The program, held at Kamala and Brekke elementary schools in Oxnard, Calif. for six weeks during Spring 1999, offered classes that taught parents how to help their children obtain higher education successfully and encouraged them to play an active role in their children's education.

Saturday's Parents' Conference is offered by the Office of Relations with Schools to provide the Oxnard parents a first-hand look at UCSB. The parents, who graduated from the program in early June, enthusiastically signed up for the chance.

The Parent Institute is a project of Janet Chrispeels, UCSB associate professor of education. For information about the Parents' Conference, the public may call the Office of Relations with Schools at 893-7227.

About UC Santa Barbara

The University of California, Santa Barbara is a leading research institution that also provides a comprehensive liberal arts learning experience. Our academic community of faculty, students, and staff is characterized by a culture of interdisciplinary collaboration that is responsive to the needs of our multicultural and global society. All of this takes place within a living and learning environment like no other, as we draw inspiration from the beauty and resources of our extraordinary location at the edge of the Pacific Ocean.
