CUBAN DIPLOMAT TO HOLD PRESS CONFERENCE AT UCSB

Sergio Martinez, first secretary of the Cuban Interests Section in Washington, D.C. and the second-ranking Cuban diplomat in the United States will speak to the media at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 29 in the McCune Conference Room, Room 6020 of the Humanities and Social Sciences Building at UCSB.

Martinez will speak to the media prior to his appearance at a course titled "Global Conflict" taught by Don Gevirtz, former U.S. ambassador to Fiji and a visiting professor in UCSB's Global and International Studies Program, and Mark Juergensmeyer, director of the program and a professor of sociology.

The Martinez lecture is titled "The Cuba of Today and its Bilateral Relations with the United States."

Martinez has served in his present role since 1995. His earlier diplomatic and government posts have included service as political officer in the Cuban Embassy in Mexico, member of the Cuban Mission at the United Nations, and adviser to the foreign relations committee of the Cuban Parliament.

Martinez is the latest of many world leaders to address the Global Conflicts class. Others include: Peter Tarnoff, former Clinton Administration undersecretary of state; Warren Christopher, former Clinton Administration secretary of state; Uriel Palti, deputy consul general of Israel;
Geza Jeszenszky,

Hungarian ambassador to the U.S.; I.K. Gujral, former prime minister of India; Sitiveni Rabuka, former prime minister of Fiji; and James McLay, former deputy prime minister of New Zealand.

---

About UC Santa Barbara

The University of California, Santa Barbara is a leading research institution that also provides a comprehensive liberal arts learning experience. Our academic community of faculty, students, and staff is characterized by a culture of interdisciplinary collaboration that is responsive to the needs of our multicultural and global society. All of this takes place within a living and learning environment like no other, as we draw inspiration from the beauty and resources of our extraordinary location at the edge of the Pacific Ocean.